New Ways for Stress Free RVing

For Immediate Release

New Orleans, LA – (January 15, 2008) – Anyone who has headed out on the open road to discover America will be all too familiar with the sound of stuff crashing and smashing in the back of the RV at every bump or twist along the way.

Loss or damage has been a part of traveling by RV seemingly forever, but there is a practical and inexpensive way to avoid losses. There are methods for securing things like TVs and breakables so that they won't topple over and break.

Highly acclaimed Thumb Lock products, by Fastening Solutions, have long prevented breakage while on the road and now there are new ways to make your traveling even more stress free. Joining Thumb Lock's popular TV Grip and Max Grip are the brand new Travel TV Wall Mount and Rock N Roll Motion Proof Putty.

The TV Mount features unique dual-docking stations that allow easy transfer of LCD TVs from your home to the RV and back again. It secures TVs and monitors up to 27" and 40lbs; your TV will easily slide in and out of the docking stations, while the mount's removable arm pans, tilts and expands.

Rock N Roll Putty is a removable and reusable adhesive that secures objects in place until you want to move them. It can be used on both horizontal and vertical surfaces, and is so versatile it can hold things as diverse as coffee cups and collectibles, as well as stabilizing mirrors, pictures and other wall hangings.

There is also Clear Gel, a clear product specifically developed to secure crystal and glassware. Both adhesives are non-damaging and easy to apply. Simply roll them into small balls, put them on the base of an object and press down into position.

"One of an RVer's biggest worries is trying to prevent their valuable or treasured items from being broken when they're on the road," said Ready America CEO Dean Reese. "Our products solve that problem.

"At last, you can have peace of mind because these products reduce the threat of accidental breakage that can happen while traveling. Basically, they're an inexpensive form of insurance. It also means you don't have to keep putting stuff away every time you change location."

Fastening Solutions, acquired by Ready America in 2007, began developing its Thumb Lock line in 1991 when the US Navy commissioned it to design a product that would keep shipboard equipment secure during excessive movement or motion.
